The Late Humphrey Marshalt. Humphrey Marshall, of Kentucky, for merly a member of Congress and a Gen-eral in the Rebellion, died in Louisville Thursday morning. He was born at Frankfort, Kentucky, in 1812. He was graduated at West Point, and while holding a commission as a lieutenant in the regular army he resigned it, studied law, and his success at the bar was noticeable He always had, however, a predilection for a military lite, and in the Mexican war he was a colonel of cavalry, and in the battle of Buena Vista led the celebrated charge of the Kentucky volunteers. In 1849 he was elected to Congress from Kentucky, and re-elected in 1851. By President Fillmore he was appointed commissioner to China. In 1856 he was member of the American National Council held in New York. In 1857 he was again elected to Congress, and was a member of the Committee on Military Af fairs. He sided with the "Confederacy" in all its secession movements, and in the Confederate army held the rank of brigadier general. Since the close of the wa he has been engaged in the practice of the law, but has been without decided influ ence in shaping the political action of his native State.

THE people of Georgia are at last anxious to know exactly where they stand financially, and to this end have sent two members of their Legislature to New I offer at private sale the Patterns, Plasks and Pritures in Union Poundry, belonging to the late firm of W.W. Miller & Co.

The railroad bonds endorsed during the same time amount to $5,533,000 making $12,181,000 of the entire debt of $17,983,00 due to three years of carpet bag government. Out of the railroad debt with which Bullack burdened Georgia, the State has not received anything for over 80 per cent of the amount. It is also stated that one Wall street broker was Treasurer of three in Europe or America the perfectly ripenack burdened Georgia, the State has not of the newly-chartered roads, and another broker was President of seven of them. The people of Georgia naturally feel uneasy over such internal improvements as these, and want to know exactly where they stand. They have, consequently gone, in the person of their representa-tive, right into Wall street, where their internal improvements tured.

WHILE the ways and means of taxation are attracting so much attention, it is worth while to notice that Massachusetts is on the point of abolishing her capita tion tax entirely. Until two years ago not only residents of the State, but immigrants landing at any of its ports, had to pay $3 50 each. The Convention which met at. Indianapolis in 1870, to dis-Rheumatic Compound cuss the whole subject of immigration protested against this tax on foreigners on the ground that it a State could lay any such duty whatever, it could make it of any amount; and that if every State followed this example, it would be impossible for foreigners to reach the interior at all. This sensible protest secured the repeal of this provision of the law. Now the citizens of Massachusetts are growing restive under such an undiscrimination system of taxation.

But Prof. Taylor's observations cover also the history of the American mildew, which is chiefly the botrytis viticola. On the wood of last year's growth, he finds the miceleum or cobweb-like branches of this pest, capable of resuming active growth when subjected to warmth and moisture. Here, again, whitewashing or solutions of sulphrets or carbolic acid, applied to the wood in winter will destroy the buds of the mildew, which are awaiting only the heat of another summer to spread over the new canes and Accepting this view of the annual propagation of mildew, there is one other precaution which may be taken by grape growers. This is to earry off and destroy the last year's leaves and trimmings, which may be regarded as storehouses of latent mildew.

Prof. Taylor has traced the variety of crysiphe, which constitutes the European mildew, through all its stages, (oidium inclusive,) on the European grape vines in the conservatory of the Department, and he has found the ripened concepticle or fruit on all parts of last year's growth. If a piece of last year's cane is brought into a warm atmosphere, the crysiphe begins to develop from the seeds or pores. No matter, therefore, how closely a vine is trimmed, enough wood is left upon it to carry the seeds of the mildew over to another year. As a consequence of this discovery, the stems and branches of all the foreign grape vines in the conservatory of the Department have been washed over this winter with a carbolic preparation.

IF any additional proof of the effica of vaccinnation as a preventative of small-pox was needed, it is furnished in the report of Dr. Morris, the Sanitary inspector of New York, from which it apcars that there were 115 cases of smallpox in that city in the week ending March 23, against 74 in the preceding week, and that in not one of these cases had the patiens been recently vaccinnated. The New York World Chastens the Third-party Men.

NEW YORK, March 30 .- The World, in a leading editorial this morning referring to the call for the Cincinnati Convention, asued at Cincinnati, and that of a similar nature issued here, says the double call looks to a breaking down and melting of the Republican and Democratic elements in a fusion which would supercede the Democratic organization. The World says this is a political impossibility. The Democratic party is ready to co-operate with honest, courageous reforms, but it is absurdly Quixotic to suppose it will consent to disband its organization. If the Cincinnati Convention cannot get along without Democratic bolstering, it must be weak in the joints.
